Ever since I downloaded this game I have been constantly playing it. This game takes the fight out of someone who has to be a banker. A game that drags on for 10+ hours and people are always online gambling. There were some kinks with it at first. But I see they're fixing it now. I'm just giving it 4 stars because as of late a lot of the games I've been in the middle of playing just won't be able to resume. It's going to be someone else's turn and they just never get out of luck. I think theirs should be a time limit once they have handled the companies. Otherwise, you have to wait until they end up & this creates problems in the game. My games were all lost and needed to be completed after this occurred and everything that I worked for or played for was lost. This creates a waste of time. Which is quite unfortunate but other than that this game is extremely fun. I bought the other boards and the 1930s board I love them all. Wish the tokens were a bit cheaper and more options. Overall, few bug fixes and this game will remain my favorite. I've told everyone about it so they can join me in a game virtually! I love monopoly and app because it takes away the hassle of keeping up with board pieces and having someone act like the bank. However, it is far too common for a player to get disconnected or for the game to freeze, ultimately destroying the whole game and leading me to have wasted 2 hours of my time. Also, it's hard to distinguish when a player is simply not paying attention, forgetting to roll, or forgetting to finish their turn so it would be very useful to have a ****chat function **** or at least a button players can use to notify other players when the game has come to a standstill. I sincerely hope that monopoly app creators will take these suggestions into consideration as I have recommended the app to many people and know that they have experienced the same frustration as me. Also, it would be awesome if there was a way to pause the game (which I know can actually be difficult due to connection problems). In addition, the game disconnects when someone receives a phone call or even if the low battery signal pops up on a player's phone. Sometimes bots will pick up and play for the disconnected user but other times the game is screwed. Regardless, I love how the game is customizable and has great layouts. Love this game, will definitely continue playing, but would deeply appreciate some improvements given that the Monopoly brand has historically been held with such high esteem. Hi and thank you for taking the time to write us your comments. Since you originally wrote to us, we have updated Monopoly many times to address the cases where the game gets unanswered and other stability issues. The game should run a much more stable way now. We have also added a reactions chat to allow players to communicate in a friendly, albeit somewhat limited way. A full text chat was not conducted at this time because it would require heavy restraint. As a family-friendly game, we wanted to ensure that Monopoly remains a safe and harassment-free environment for everyone. Again, thank you very much for sharing your feedback with us. We plan to develop Monopoly for years to come and take into account our users' feedback with every single update. Many cool features are currently working on that have been in high demand, which we hope will improve the overall Monopoly experience. This is a smart, nice running monopoly game. I first saw it played on Twitch and said I have to experience this. The graphics, animation and modeling are really fun. Based on old reviews, I think many issues from the past are solved. The network operates reliably and the rules and variations pretty much on point. The AI players add a new dimension. They are annoying at worst and a wonderful addition for cunning deals deals at its best. The klunky repetitious and meaningless deals they make are pretty bad. And the fact that they only judge offers based on the value of deeds and classify them as light, medium, or hard only improves their luck and reduces yours makes them quite frustrating at times. But they are fun to push around and as I said, they create a whole new dimension in the game. Imagine making a deal with a predictable robot to mess up your human opponent, etc. That said, the overall game feels cold and lonely. How do we know that we really play against a human when we join multiplayer online? What is our own record of gains and losses? What if we want to play against a certain player again? Marmalade and Hasbro do a pretty nice job of getting all their games online. But these old parlour games deserve at least a minimal social component to hold people back. Edging really close to four stars! Paris, La Belle Epoque Theme Developer, Marmalade Game Studio, indicated that the app's privacy practices may include data management as set out below.
